

ARMY MADE ADVANCE OF WHOLE WAR

RESULTS OF ENGLISH DRIVE BECOMES MORE APPARENT AS REFUGEES POUR INTO CAMPS.

PRISONERS FOR YEARS

Many Inhabitants of Cities Retaken Most Grateful to Their Rescuers — Open Fighting the Rule.

While standing off German counter-attacks, British forces have been steadily making gains toward Cambrai. General Byng's men are just west of Fontaine Notre Dame, less than three miles west of Cambrai, and which dominates the entire region. The British have driven toward Cambrai and which includes approximately fifty square miles of territory formerly within the German line.

The German line is reported to be pushing up reserves for counter-attacks. Cambrai has probably lost its usefulness as a German supply base and the British are now driving it from the northeast and south are dominated by British artillery. The new wedge also is a direct menace to the southern end of the British line. The British advance east of Arras last spring. The British are now within a sharp salient, which has been heightened by the British from Bullecourt in the present drive.

Hard Fighting. Desperate fighting continues in the mountain between the British and the Italians. The Italians are apparently holding their own against the superior Austro-German forces. On Monte Fontana the Italians, after inflicting a heavy loss on the enemy, retired from advance elements. Strong efforts on the Osego plateau west of Brenta were repulsed by the Italians.

British Army Headquarters in France, Yesterday, Nov. 23.—The success of the British army in the Cambrai sector has continued to grow steadily, and the British have now won a little more than three days fighting have over-run an area equaling in size, that won by the Germans during the first battle of the Somme. The British have captured over 10,000 prisoners.

Fighting Fierce. Some of the fiercest hand to hand fighting of the war has been going on. The enemy troops were unprepared for the attack, but they have been putting every ounce of strength into an attempt to stem the rising tide. At other points and rushed to the Cambrai sector by the desperate Germans, and so hard pressed were they for men, that two companies of British soldiers were recruited hastily at one camp, and thrown into the line in the region of Nansures.

Pitiful Objects. Some of the pitiful objects are in British hands, receiving medical treatment. One prisoner was in the last stage of tuberculosis and had to be moved to prevent the disease from spreading to the others who were in the same hospital. The British have been fighting their valiant attempt to fight under the lash of their unreeling officers.

The great battlefield has taken on a new aspect. The war was gone by. It is no longer a conflict of trenches and shell holes, but men struggling with rifles and bayonet over a barren battle ground. The long, unbroken line of British troops in picture, charged against the enemy position over the wide territory involved.

German Prisoners. The roads everywhere for two days, have been swarming with advancing troops and prisoners, and civilians, coming back from the front. Many wounded non-combatant men, women and children have been brought out of the front lines under the guidance of their deliverers from German bondage.

This has been a battle of strange sights, but no more striking spectacle has been witnessed than the British front. The very gap which the tanks torn in the famous battle of Arras, today are pushing baby carriages containing infants or tramping along with their babies clutched to their breasts. Beside them toddled other youngsters, many carrying their own dolls and many a few clinging determinedly to quivering puppies which they dared not trust to run on the ground.

Pitiful Scenes. Old men and women were bringing all household effects they could carry on carts or carry on their backs. For three years they had been in captivity and some in slavery. They had been subsisting on the bounty of the American relief committee, which provided them virtually the only food they obtained.

Hard Fighting. Hard fighting has taken place today in the Cambrai sector. The British were holding a high ridge in front of this place and some troops had forced an entrance into the German line of the town. The Germans were pushing back here which had been giving trouble was charged and captured by dismounted cavalry men. The battery was surrounded by heavy machine guns and the British were the use of horses, so the soldiers

MUST RESIGN POST ON SHIPPING BOARD BECAUSE OF HEALTH

Washington, Nov. 23.—Chief Constructor Admiral L. Capps, the navy, appointed general manager of the shipping board's emergency fleet corporation by President Wilson a few weeks ago, after the resignation of Major General Goethals, will be compelled to leave the post because of illness. He has been advised by his physician he cannot continue at work and his resignation will be placed in the president's hands without delay.

There have been reports of friction between Admiral Capps and chairman Harley of the shipping board, but they always have been prompt denials. Secretary Daniels said today the admiral's weakened physical condition had been known to him for some time and on that account he hesitated to suggest his name as the successor of General Goethals.

It is probable the admiral will not only have to quit the fleet corporation, but for the present will be obliged to abandon active duty.

The organization of the shipping board to speed up the construction program, Vice President Charles A. Piez already had taken over a large share of the work formerly done by the admiral and has as his assistants some of the country's leading shipbuilders. It is probable a further reorganization will follow Admiral Capps' retirement.

stomped the position on foot and annihilated the gun crew.

Heavy Gun Fire. In the night, a heavy machine gun machine gun and rifle fighting was proceeding last night and this morning. Attack Fontaine Notre Dame. West of Cambrai tanks, cavalry and infantry were pressing the attack vigorously about Fontaine Notre Dame and the strong position in Bernin wood. Fontaine Notre Dame has not been officially reported as having been captured, but the British tanks were served with hot coffee by the civilians in this place this morning. Field Marshal Haig's official report, Thursday night, said the Germans had retaken Fontaine Notre Dame.

Capture Fortifications. Further north near Bullecourt the British were in possession of the entire underground trench system known as the "Mametz Trench," which had been famed for its supposed impenetrability. At least five determined counter-attacks have been repulsed in this region. The British have captured a strong counter-attack was repulsed.

The last line of trench defenses in the region of Cambrai has been broken and the British today were firmly established at many points in the Masmare-Denours line south of the town. It is expected to be more of Tuesday's battle. In the advance south of Cambrai the first hand fighting occurred at Lacaze wood, which lies on the Cambrai highway.

The British cleared the Germans. As the advance continued toward Moeuvres some opposition was encountered in a suburb, but by one of the British had crossed the canal at a lock. The small German garrison fought bitterly to retain Moeuvres. The whole area was under British control in which was hidden with machine guns, but the Germans were forced to give up although some were still holding out in the cellar of the house.

Marcoing was taken with small resistance on the part of the enemy and this gave the British a second foothold in the region. The British were forced a passage here at the same hour Moeuvres was entered. The Masmare-Denours trench line, which was held by the Germans, was captured by the British. The British had captured the line and the British had captured the line and the British had captured the line.

The first attack was made over the ridge northeast of Moeuvres. The enemy advanced in masses, forming a line of machine guns at this point. They permitted the enemy to advance to within a thousand yards of the line. The British then opened fire with machine guns and artillery were turned on the Germans and they were smashed in a withering storm of fire. At one o'clock an attack on the enemy was made. The British were in heavy artillery and machine gun fire and they turned back after another severe attack. The British advanced on Noyelles, which was held by one company of British troops. Here some of the stiffest fighting of the battle took place at close quarters.

Close Quarters. Both sides rushed up reinforcements and for two hours the battle raged back and forth. The British were in the buildings. It was a close and bloody fight. The British played the principal part. The Germans fought well, but they were not good enough to withstand the fire of the British assault, and gradually were forced back across the canal to the east.

Among the prisoners taken by the British were several officers who were captured. The British commander was captured and it is reported his advent into the British line was a particularly humorous episode in an elaborate tramping. He was followed by two servants who carried most of his luggage. He was swearing-mad at the turn of events. The sight of a comrade of British cavalry thrusting a sword into a frenzy of joy, and almost into a frenzy of joy, and almost into a frenzy of joy.

Civilians who were released from Moeuvres today told something of their experience in the last three years. They rejoiced at their new-found freedom and many of them today still wept with joy when the subject of the deliverance was brought up. It was a motley crowd in all conditions of this place and many walks of life. Among them was the mayor, a middle-aged man, who acted as spokesman. They first learned of the approach of the British from machine gun fire. They were immediately thrown into a state of excitement and watched for the coming of their friends from every point available.

U. S. LIEUTENANT TO BE RECOMMENDED FOR FIRST MEDAL OF WAR

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] With the American Army in France Nov. 23.—An American lieutenant from Meeteetse, Wyoming, may be recommended for the first military medal of honor in this war for heroic conduct in crossing "No Man's Land" in broad daylight under heavy fire, rescuing a private who had lost his way near an enemy trench.

The lieutenant had been in a patrol party the previous night and fatigued by the long wait lying on his belly before the German barbed wire, fell asleep.

When the patrol returned he was discovered to be missing. After dark the Germans sighted the sleeper before their trenches and opened fire on him with rifles and machine guns and he was killed. The private, awakened by the fire, leaped into a shell hole, but the noise from the firing confused him so greatly that he was unable to tell the way to his own trench.

By aid of their glasses the Americans were able to locate the private, and the lieutenant, despite the protest of his fellows, decided to make a rescue attempt. He crawled out on his belly toward the private, crossing "No Man's Land" under rifle, machine gun and shrapnel fire. In the meantime the Germans, supported by the machine gun fire, were trying to prevent the Americans from leaving them. The daring officer reached the private and guided him back in safety, neither being hit or wounded.

The lieutenant hero is a graduate of the University of Wyoming and modestly refused to discuss the exploit. All the information came from his fellow soldiers who crowded out and patrolled the trench. The lieutenant learned that this was not the first time that American soldiers have fallen asleep while on patrol. One commander adopted the expedient of having the men poke each other in the ribs every five minutes.

The third contingent of Americans in the trenches has been relieved and returned home in a drizzling rain. The first contingent is still in the trenches on the American sector continues.

Many of the third contingent who have returned to camp brought with them interesting stories. One of the men, while patrolling in the middle of "No Man's Land," opened fire at a club of bushes from which four Germans spring in fright. One of the men, while patrolling in the middle of "No Man's Land," opened fire at a club of bushes from which four Germans spring in fright.

On another occasion the Americans crept so close to the German trenches that they were able to see the Germans being frequently applauded by his comrades.

The men of the third contingent praised the quality of the food in the trenches. The cook of one organization not only sent up huge quantities of piping hot stew with vegetables but served rice to put in the trenches.

Arrangements have been made for a football game between the eleven of two crack regiments. One is coached by a former all-American player. The other is coached by a former Harvard freshman. The event is being arranged by a former Yale cross country star. One regiment, including over a hundred men, is being arranged by a former Yale cross country star.

Affairs in Petrograd Are Growing Worse and a Civil War on Large Scale Is Inevitable.

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] Stockholm, Nov. 23.—The Bolsheviki, who now control what government Russia has, has appointed commissioners who are leaving Petrograd to seek an armistice with the German forces. The Bolsheviki have promised the Russian people an immediate peace.

When I left Petrograd affairs were going from bad to worse and civil war on a big scale seemed inevitable. The Bolsheviki are now in a desperate position and I believe that when the people are educated to the real needs of the nation, things will take a turn for the better and general reconstruction will begin. The Bolsheviki have promised the Russian people an immediate peace.

The Russian, who was said to be a diplomat, was reported to have left Petrograd on a special train. The terms were not made known.

The Berlingske Tidene today printed a Haparanda dispatch saying that the Bolsheviki are in Petrograd between the Bolsheviki and followers of Kerensky. It added that General Kornilov is still at Moscow.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The Russian war ministry and the ministry of marine organized by Kerensky are still operating independent of the Bolsheviki government, the Russian embassy claimed today. The Bolsheviki is the ministry of foreign affairs, of which Leon Trotsky is the head, it was declared.

BLANKS ARE READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

TWO THOUSAND QUESTIONNAIRES FOR REGISTRANTS RECEIVED THIS MORNING. WILL BE MAILED SOON

Registrants Must Answer Questions and Return to Exemption Board Within Seven Days.

Two thousand blank questionnaires which are to be filled out by all registered men in this district who are not yet in some branch of military service, were received this morning by County Clerk Howard Lee. Owing to the fact that a consignment of envelopes to be used for mailing the questionnaires had not yet arrived, the questionnaires will be sent out in envelopes which will come within a few days, however, and the mailing will begin immediately. High school students have volunteered to address them, and it is planned, in accordance with the regulations, to mail five percent each day over a period of twenty days. This means that about a hundred questionnaires will be sent out every day.

Each registrant will be required to fill out all the questions according to instructions given in the blank, and return it to the local exemption board within seven days from date of mailing. Failure to do this will be a misdemeanor or punishable by a fine or imprisonment for one year and may result in the loss of valuable rights, and in immediate induction into military service.

The object of having registrants fill out these questions is to enable the exemption board to place them in one of the five classes. The second class will not be called until every man listed in the first class has been taken or rejected for military service and so on with the other classes.

Single men without dependent relatives and married men dependent on wives for support will form class No. 1. Class No. 2 will be made up of married men with dependent relatives and who are not engaged in some vital war work. Single men with dependent wives, farmers, and highly skilled laborers will make up class No. 3, while those who are engaged in some war work with dependent families, legislative, executive and judicial officers, ministers, alien enemies and men totally unfit to serve, will be listed in class No. 4.

The questionnaire is made up of fifteen pages and contains twelve series of questions. Every registrant must answer all of the general questions under Series I, and questions as to his physical fitness under Series II, and so many more of the questions under Series III as under the exemption board may require. It may be applicable to his case. He must then answer the first question of each of the other series from Series III to XII, inclusive. His answer to the first question in each of said series shall be either "Yes" or "No" as the case may be. These answers will determine whether or not he need answer any or all of the remaining questions.

When the registrant has filled out the answers to the questions, he must swear to the truth of his answers, and if he claims exemption, that he is a supporting affidavit of some interested person. The exemption board will then examine the answers and assign the registrant to the class to which, in its opinion, he belongs.

As soon as orders for the next draft are received, the local exemption board will proceed to examine every man in Class I. If it should become necessary to take men from the next two classes, it will mean an adjustment in agriculture and industry to meet the necessity.

Men in Class I will only be taken as a last resort. The local exemption board will be made up of a judge, a man in Class I. If it should become necessary to take men from the next two classes, it will mean an adjustment in agriculture and industry to meet the necessity.

HUN TROOPS MASSED FOR FINAL PUSH

HEAVY BOMBARDMENT

Lines Have Been Dented in A Few Places But the Italians Are Holding Firm Along Main Positions

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Rome, Nov. 23.—Since the German defeat by the British in France, the invading Teutons have redoubled their efforts to break through the Italian lines between the Piave and Brenta valleys and terrific fighting was reported from that sector today. Germans are using "shock troops" for assaults in intervals of heavy bombardments which continue night and day.

At some points on the Asiago plateau the Italian line has been dented but the Italian position is strong, and those on the Piave river, are holding firm.

The German and Austro-Hungarian reinforcements sent to the upper Piave have given the invaders a big superiority over the Italians, but the latter have the advantage of position, holding a chain of fortified mountain summits in the path of the Teutons.

General Acquistapace, commander of the Italian army on the Piave, has issued a proclamation praising his men for their bravery.

In its defense of the Piave, the Italian left wing has been faced by all of the available forces of the Central empires," says General Corral, military expert of the Tribune, in an article today. He continued:

The left wing has been overcoming and is yet overcoming enormous difficulties, checking the enemy's advances, and holding the line. The Italian left wing has been faced by all of the available forces of the Central empires," says General Corral, military expert of the Tribune, in an article today. He continued:

Italy limits the amount of bread. Rome, Nov. 23.—The government has signed a new decree limiting the amount of bread for each person to one-half pound per day. The decree also limits the amount of food and flour and those found guilty of holding excessive quantities will be severely punished. One of the causes of the scarcity has been the buying of large quantities by over-cautious consumers.

Will consolidate all state offices. Madison, Nov. 23.—A meeting will be held in Milwaukee next Wednesday to discuss plans to have all state department offices at Milwaukee placed under one roof. The railroad tax, highway and other divisions of government employ about 200 persons in Milwaukee offices.

Federal officers arrest spy suspect. Denver, Nov. 23.—Max Linder, a soldier in the quartermaster's department at Fort Logan, near Denver, and said by federal officers to be a German spy, was arrested this morning by federal officers, suspected of being a spy.

Insurance rate on vessels is reduced. Washington, Nov. 23.—On account of reduction in ships torpedoed the past few weeks, the war risk rate today lowered the insurance rate on vessels passing through the submarine zone from five to four per cent.

English officer is appointed general. London, Nov. 23.—King George has promoted Lieutenant-General Forgan to the rank of General in recognition of his distinguished service in the field in recent operations. It was officially announced today.

INTER-CLASS GAMES TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Freshmen-Senior and Sophomore Junior Football Contests at Fair Grounds—Other High School Notes.

Interclass football games will be played tomorrow afternoon at the fair grounds, the first game beginning at 2 p. m. The Freshmen aggregation will take up with the Seniors' squad in a game which is expected to be a royal battle. Following this game the Sophomores will take on the Juniors and this will be a doubtful result in a fight to the finish. All the teams have been putting in hours of practice the past two weeks and the captains of the different teams are all confident of victory. The winners of these battles will be matched next week in a contest to decide the champion of the school.

Each class plans to have an army of rooters on hand and spirit is running high in the local school. Last evening the "A" Latin classes will give a banquet to the "B" classes in the high school gymnasium at half past five this afternoon. The banquet will be given in ancient Roman style and the guests will come dressed in Roman and Greek costumes. Malcolm Mount will preside as toastmaster of the occasion. Before the banquet will open the program after the banquet with an invocation, followed by Jean McNamara, who will pour the Libation, referring to the Latins, which is an ancient custom. During the supper, several toasts will be given by members of the classes. Kids That and Kids That. "War," will be given by Katherine Dougherty; Mary Atwood will give "A Toast to the Freshmen A's and Esther Field will give "A Toast to the Freshmen B's." A playlet, entitled "In France," which shows the value of Latin in foreign countries, will be given by the following freshmen: Louise Ford, who will give "The Frenchman's Boy," the boy who knows Latin, and Paul Claxton, the boy who knows only English. Entertain at Party.

The Freshmen physical training classes of the local high school, under the direction of Miss Jackson, entertained at a party yesterday from four to seven-thirty. The guests of honor were the Mr. and Mrs. George Bassard and Miss Hilda Meisner. Dancing was indulged in during the evening, followed by a number of very entertaining games. The Misses Jackson and Vene Turner led the grand march in which all present took part. A picnic supper was served at six o'clock. The party broke up by all members singing the national hymn.

GUNBOAT SMITH NOW TALKS OF RETIRING

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] New York, Nov. 23.—Gunboat Smith, the famous old "Gooner" of the gory white horse days, in forms the world at large that he is just as likely as not to step down and out of the fist game. Gunboat Smith, conqueror of Jess Willard and dozens of lesser champions of beef in his hey-day, is all ruffled up about the way things have been done in his young life.

"Life's too short to be bothered," he summed it up, and further deposed to the effect that if things didn't work out to a continuation of the Smith efforts as a heavyweight pugilist, why the world probably would move along all right.

Smith's chief hurt lies in the way he has been managed—or, as he put it himself, mismanaged. Jim Buckley, according to the one-time slayer of white horses, didn't get a very large hang about what happened to the Gunner. Matches were made and carried out in a desultory fashion, and Smith declares Buckley was always hard to get along with.

Somebody asked Smith if he was looking for a new manager, after having dropped Buckley. Well, he didn't know, but he wasn't getting terribly excited over it. Maybe he would, and maybe he wouldn't.

The straw that tipped the balance was laid on the Smith scales in California, where the Gunner made a bad showing in a bout or so, and was promptly informed of the fact by the knowing California fight fans. They declared the Gunner a regular "whoopie," and decided to have nothing more to do with him.

And that was rather strange, too, it was in California that Smith was matched with the huge hulking giant beef that now holds the heavyweight championship. What Smith did to Jess Willard that night was a terrible thing, and the Californians predicted that in the heavy fists of the old "Gooner" lay the power that would bring the heavyweight title back to the white race.

The Gunner, too, has had his brawls with Sam Langford and other illustrious exponents of Carpentier in London fought on a questionable foul. He has lost on all—barred nobody and his pretty good old craft right now. His retirement would be a real regrettable thing in the game, he has been identified with so long.

Marquette is ready for the Wabash game. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milwaukee, Nov. 23.—Marquette university football squad is preparing for the Thanksgiving game with Wabash college here next Thursday.

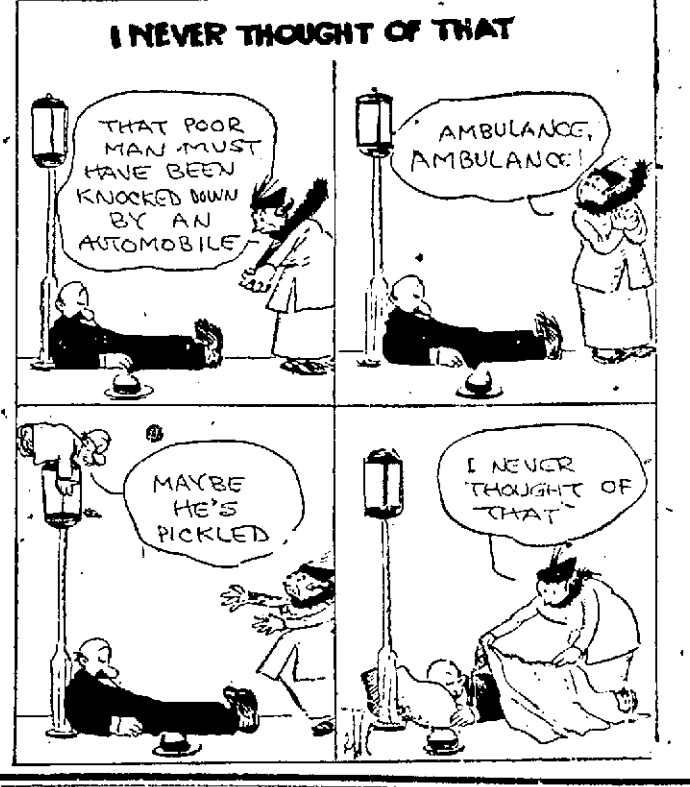

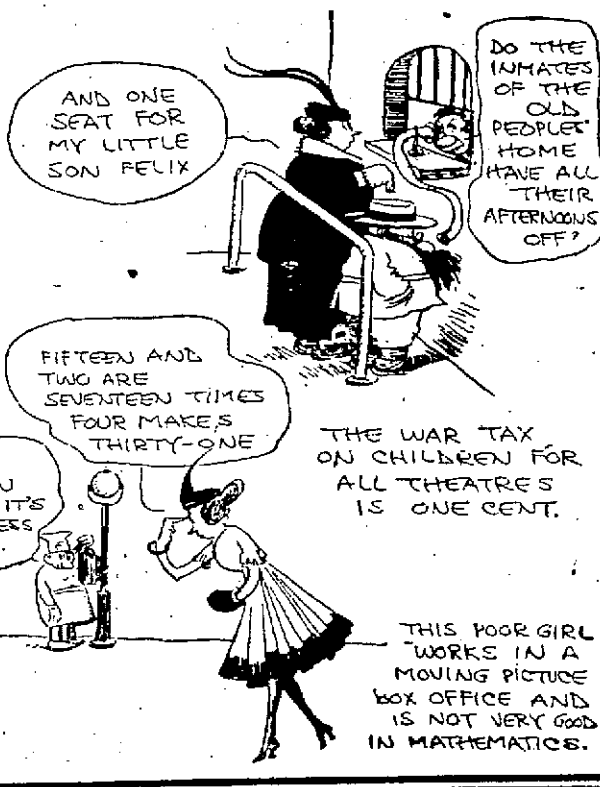

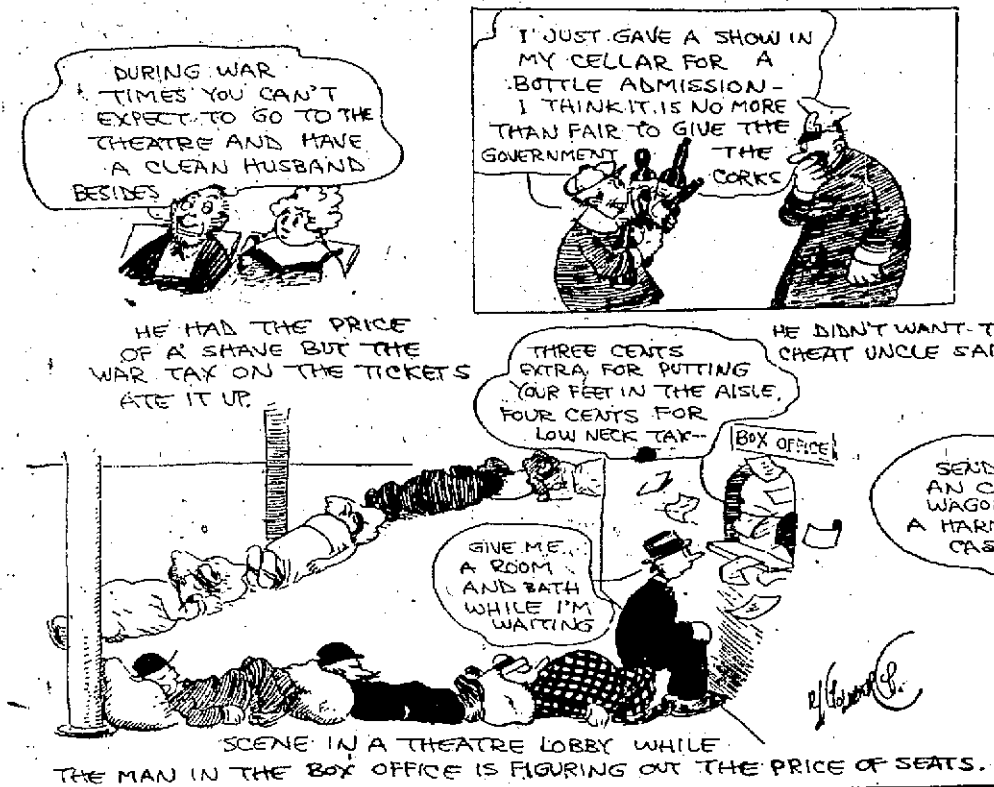

Each Jack Ryan is confident the Marqueters will return the complete triumph last season by the Crawfordville players 14 to 7 defeat. Ryan is building his hopes on the record of the Marquette squad for the season.

Harry McCormick, former outfielder and pinch hitter of the New York Giants, is now an officer in the U. S. Army and is near the front lines in France. McCormick got his military training at Plattsburg. He recently shipped a line to Governor Tener telling about how he had landed in France and about things generally.

All players who have been called to the service and are now in the training camps all seem to be back good at the war game. Either they are more used to discipline than because most every ball player in the national army is now a sergeant or a corporal.

HOBEY BAKER NOW AN ARMY AVIATOR

Hobey Baker, Princeton's hockey and football star, is now a lieutenant in the aviation service and his example has inspired many Princeton athletic stars to go in for the flying branch. So many of the Tiger hockey stars are now training to be fliers that Princeton has decided to do without a hockey seven this winter.

LEAGUE NOT TO ASK EXEMPTION OF MEN

MORRIS MILLER

There will be no more racing at Juarez, Mexico, at least for several years. The big track opposite El Paso has been abandoned by Matt J. Wlad and the men who built it. One of the reasons is too much winter opposition at New Orleans. Another is the recent troubles along the Mexican border. Juarez, therefore, will remain closed this winter for the first time in nearly ten years. At the outset the track made money, but since 1914 the owners have been compelled to make up heavy losses.

The most promising racing season in the history of Kentucky wound up at Latonia recently. All of the tracks in the Blue Grass state made plenty of money. The stakes and purses were more valuable than in 1916 and some of the best horses in training were seen under saddle. The most noteworthy events were Omar Khayyam's victory in the Kentucky derby and the wonderful mile run by the three-year-old Cudgel. The racing season prompted remarkable speculation in the mutual machines and also served to stimulate the breeding industry. During all the trials and tribulations of the American turf Kentucky has been allowed to enjoy racing unmolested.

Packey McFarland, the old fighting idol, who is now a boxing instructor at Camp MacArthur, Waco, Tex., is not only helping in teaching the men to box, but he is an influence in other athletics as well. Packey has done quite a bit to get the football squads going at a good clip. A big part of his work is the directing of the financial end of things athletic, where he should be of really valuable service as he has always been known as the business man of pugilism. McFarland never owned a title in the fight game, though he was one of the greatest fighters that ever adorned the prize ring, but by using his head he managed to make it pay handsomely. It has been a hard job to make any sort of money on the athletic events, but Packey has been able to clear enough to provide the boys with quite a bit of equipment. And he has also agreed to meet Mike Gibbons, who is boxing instructor at Camp Dodge, Ia., to settle the entire proceeds to go to athletic the boys. It may be that Mike and Packey will not try to put each other away, but they will perform in an interesting way and show the soldier boys the real thing in return for which neither expects to receive a nickel.

Harry Tuthill, who has charge of the conditioning of the Detroit Tigers during the baseball season, is doing the same work for the Michigan football team, as he has done for several seasons past. Apparently he is doing a very good job at Ann Arbor.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER RELIEVED ASTHMA

Mr. Wm. E. Wicherski, Director of Manual Training in the Kent High School, was suffering from a severe attack of Asthma, and was unable to obtain any relief from the many remedies he had tried, until he heard of Nature's Creation. Today he is enjoying perfect health and writes a short, interesting story as follows:

"I am feeling my best and have lost all signs of having any Asthma, thanks to you and your medicine. My weight is again up to standard, and my appetite is fine. In case I should ever need any more Nature's Creation, I would not hesitate one minute to send for it." Mr. Wm. E. Wicherski, No. 127 Mantus St., Kent, Ohio.

team, as he has done for several seasons past. Apparently he is doing a very good job at Ann Arbor.

Sam Crawford has sold a house and two pieces of real estate which he owned in Detroit, and is now on his way to Los Angeles, where he expects to make his future home. Crawford is a free agent and probably will hook up with some club in the Pacific Coast league.

Clark Griffith, Washington Senator boss, is anxious about his outfield for next season. Griffith fears that when the spring arrives he will find that his outfield is in France or on the way, as several of his best gardeners declared upon leaving Washington last fall that they were going to enlist in the army forthwith.

Several more, including Sam Rice, Harry Harper, Joe Leonard and Ed Gharriy, have been drafted. So it looks like the old fox will have to step around to get a ball team together next season.

NECESSARY WORK.

There is no such thing as a free lunch. To take the time to do simple work, to take the time to do the work of the "butcher," the baker, the candlestick maker, into an armed soldier, is an impossibility. Yet this nation has undertaken the impossibility and made it a certainty. It has called to this colors the "butcher," the baker, the candlestick maker, and all the allied trades. It has taken these men from civil life, from training camps, from the front lines, and placed them in the front lines, and is arming and drilling these men to make them soldiers.

Uncle Sam, whom we lovingly personify as a genial old chap, with real personality, clothes, face and drill, and makes soldiers of them, but unfortunately these restrictions end. True, he has taken liquor away from all men in uniform, but he has made no serious provision for their moral welfare beyond that. We must not blame Uncle Sam, as he has many things on his mind just at present. We must help him. We can furnish these soldier boys with the millions, but our responsibility does not end there. We must look after their moral conditions later.

It may appear strange to many to state the fact, but it is true, that practically thirty-five to forty per cent of these soldiers of ours, now in training or in the actual battle zone, are members of the Catholic faith. We have our cantonments, we have our Y. M. C. A. huts, and now we must have some place for these Catholic boys who have responded to the call of our Uncle Sam and gone into the army, the navy and the other various corps of activity, where they may meet and hold worship. They must have a place to worship and priests to administer the sacred rites prescribed by their religious tenets.

Next week a campaign will be inaugurated by the Knights of Columbus to raise Janesville's quota of the fund for this work. It is not a question of race, religion or color, we are confronted with this war, but simply to do the best we can for those who are enlisted, and those who will be called upon to go in the future. We have had our crusades for other causes, all based upon the great foundation of Christianity, so why should not we put our shoulders to the wheel and aid in the raising of this special fund for Rock county?

The idea of the campaign was set for the same time as the Y. M. C. A. fund drive was, but the Knights of Columbus deferred their dates until later, to avoid any conflict in ideas. Then came the appeal for the funds for the Recreation Army fund, and the Knights of Columbus again deferred their campaign in deference to the other demands. Now they come to the front and ask for aid in raising the fund needed, and they should find ready response to their request.

The Knights of Columbus fund is in no ways conflicting with the fund raised for the army "Y" huts. It merely supplements it. It gives the boys of Catholic training and Catholic homes, an opportunity to pay their devotion as they should on each Sunday. It has been the aim of the federal government to have at least one chaplain in every division of the Catholic denomination. This has been a thought well worth considering, but the present request for funds contemplates sending forty more to Europe. However, this fund the Knights of Columbus propose raising, is not only for the Catholic soldiers of the army, but for all Christians. Race religion or previous condition of servitude does not count. The fund to be raised will place forty or more priests of the Catholic faith in the divisions of the army where they are needed. It will offer a place in every camp for worship to those of Catholic faith and with the army percentage of more than one third Catholic, we can not overlook the importance of this move.

Let your contributions be as liberal as you can. The sum anticipated to Janesville is not large and the good it will do is something that the dollars and cents can never be estimated in. We are in this war to the finish and we must meet every demand, both federal and by subscription, that is offered us for consideration, with no questions asked. We may pay our dollars in Texas to arm and equip our soldiers, "the butcher, the baker, and candlestick maker," but now we must look after his moral welfare and bring those soldier boys back to us as good and pure, morally, as when they left us.

OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG MEN.
Years ago ambitious young men could make out a claim on the public lands and in a few years have a good farm. Today good farm land commands high prices. Manufacturing business is so concentrated that a man needs influence and capital. Competition is fierce among small retail stores, and unless a man is a natural born trader it is not a promising field.

Yet many conditions are favorable. One of these is the fact that boys and young men can get all the work they want during school vacations and immediately after leaving school. Wages also have increased. A common rate of wages for errand boys, office boys, and odd jobs in factories and stores was formerly 50 cents a day. Very few boys have been working the past summer at any such figure as that. With the present demand for labor, a great many boys should be able to save money and secure a little nest egg. It is not so much the amount of it as the fact that they have acquired the saving habit. Many boys of course have to contribute to family support. If their parents need the help to maintain a good standard of family comfort, the children should give it cheerfully. No money return they can make can begin to pay for what has been given them.

At present prices of farm and factory work, the boy who quits school with a little bank account should be able to add to it steadily. There will be few times when he will have to loaf. He would better be careful how he risks that capital in uncertain ventures.

But he can always be sure that land is a good investment. He can always find undeveloped land at a moderate price that can be bought on a mortgage. The labor of developing it will be no more exhausting than standing up all day before a bench in a poorly ventilated factory. It is the opportunity of today for the young man with small capital.

FIGHTING SPIRIT.

It is the testimony of those who have seen much of the former national guard men, also of the newly drafted army, that a splendid military spirit is being developed among them. The former militiamen are described as being even eager to get over to France and begin business. Fellows who before there was any expectation of war, joined the militia companies did not do so from love of sport, comradeship, or military exercises.

They were men in whom the American spirit runs high, and in whom there is an exceptional interest in soldierly achievement. When a man of this temperament is put up against the present proposition, he reacts quickly. He reacts in the way of our flag and citizens. He realizes that the only way a nation can acquire honor and safety, is to show that it does possess some virtue force and that it is capable of defending its rights if it has to.

The spirit of the drafted men is not so much different. To many of them the war problems are now. But in the atmosphere of camp life, it will be difficult for them to remain outsiders. In sympathy. They will soon learn that we have a real cause to fight for. Not many of them will favor the idea that the American people should lie down and say "Please kick me."

The soldiers who are described as eager to go are no more anxious than anyone else to lose their lives or run needless risks. But like the man who has a tooth to be pulled, they know there can be no comfort until the bad job is tackled and done. They want to get it over as quickly as possible.

Also it sticks in the crop of the normal American young man that our enemies are laughing and chuckling over America's "Wooden sword." They should do their laughing right now when they can do it, as they may not get a chance later. When our boys go "over the top" in France, there will be things doing that Fritz does not anticipate.

The question is asked why the poor people of the cities don't move out in the country where food runs on the ground because of scarce labor. Unfortunately, a square meal of garden stuff is not usually accepted as a good substitute for the picture show.

Freight trains should never forget to run back and forth at railroad crossings four or five times and block the tracks so as to show the automobile drivers and pedestrians they don't own the earth.

After bitterly complaining about the cost of living, many people proceed to stop and gossip half an hour with the grocery solicitor whose time is charged up against the goods.

Much is being said about the mothers who are sending their five and six boys to the war, but they haven't anything on the many that are sending their only sons.

Those straight, soldierly, impressive looking fellows at the army camps

SEARCHERS REMAIN AT WORK ON RIVER

Searching Parties Still Fail to Find Any Traces of Dr. James Mills Who Disappeared on Sunday Morning.

After six days of diligent searching on the part of many searchers, no trace has been found of Dr. James Mills, who has been missing since early Sunday morning, when it is thought that he ended his life by jumping into the river. Parties of searchers have been at work dragging the river continually but with no results. Many of the searching parties have tried new arrangements for dragging the river in an effort to find some clue to the whereabouts of the body if it is in the river. Edward Horn, who is well acquainted with the river, has been hired by the Mills' family to conduct the search for the body. Horn has invented a new form of drag with which to catch the body along the bottom of the river. Eighteen hooks are attached to rope and make it possible to cover much territory. The river has been thoroughly explored between the Court street bridge and the Racine street bridge so that the search for the body has shifted to below the Racine street bridge.

Two cars of small pigs were shipped from this station during the week to Loras, Iowa, where they will be matured. The bartenders' dance given last evening at Academy hall was well attended. The Hatch orchestra of Janesville furnished the music. The money made at this dance will be used to aid the war fund and will be turned over to some of the several committees.

Lake Geinash appeared in justice court this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness. The annual meeting of the Red Cross society of the city was held last evening at the library. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: T. O. Holt, president; August Bluff, vice president; Mrs. Louise Peirce, secretary; A. J. Jensen, treasurer. A committee of fifteen ladies was elected to serve as a board of directors. The by-laws as sent out by the National Red Cross society were adopted. The work being done in this community by this organization compares most favorably with other communities.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

The regular semi-annual authorized lecture on Christian Science, under the auspices of the local Christian Science Church, will be given next Tuesday evening by Chas. I. Ohrenstein, C. S. R. Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., next Tuesday evening, Nov. 27th, at 8:15 o'clock at the Church Edifice, corner of Pleasant and S. High Streets, Janesville, Wisconsin. The Lecture is Free. All persons interested in the subject are cordially invited to attend.

TWO FAMILIES IN CITY IN NEED OF BEDDING

The Salvation Army is in need of all kinds of cast-off clothing, furniture, bedding and stoves. There are two families that have recently come to this city without any household furnishings. The Salvation Army has given them such supplies as they had but was not able to furnish their needs. Anyone wishing to donate some things for their use can telephone Army headquarters and they will be glad to call for them.

WILL INSTALL GAS TANK FOR DISPATCHING DOGS

Plans are now being made for the installation of a gas tank for the dispatching of dogs in this city. The money to install this apparatus for the city was given to the cause by Miss Amelia Reddy, who died recently, and the humane society is pushing the installation. The tank will be placed in the barn owned by the city on the corner of Jackson and Wall streets and will aid greatly in the killing of dogs which are found wandering about the city.

9th Reason Why

The ninth reason why it is better to place your estate in the hands of the Trust Company for final settlement is:

We have the very best system of bookkeeping and records that can be secured.

It is often necessary to employ a great deal of skill in working out the problems of one's business after a sudden death.

It is not uncommon for the man of no experience to get into a worse tangle—which means more cost and less net proceeds for the heirs.

It costs no more to do this in the best way.

Evansville News

Evansville, Nov. 23.—All Evansville will attend the Red Cross play, "All the Comfort of Home." The sale of the tickets has been a remarkable success. It was the original plan to present the play only one night, but the demand for seats makes it imperative to extend it to two nights. The ticket-takers are to be accommodated. A word to the wise will not be out of place. Reserve your seats early. This may be done free of charge, at Hubbard's, beginning Friday morning, Nov. 23. Present indications are that "standing room only" will be the order for both performances.

Actual Extract From a Soldier's Letter to His Mother

"I WANT some candy! Heavens! What an aching hunger we get for something sweet! Gumdrops, milk chocolate, glace nuts and fruits, raisins and stuffed dates—there's a choice for you. Every week, or oftener, couldn't you send me some? If any of my friends ask what to send me, tell 'em candy!"

That's what the author of this letter wrote to his mother. Send your boy some candy, NOW, and it will reach him in time for Christmas.

We have some carefully selected boxes to send.

REBELLION.

"My crown prince was fine and fair,"
"But he marched away with his regiment and they tell me that he's dead!"
"We all must go," he whispered low.
"A sorrowful fight for the Fatherland." Now the heart of me's torn with the grief I know, and I cannot understand.
For none of the Kaiser's princes lies out there where my soldier sleeps.
Here's a land where grief is the common lot, but never the Kaiser weeps.

"My crown prince was a kindly prince, and his eyes were gentle, too, And glad were the days of his youth to me when his wonderful smile I knew.
Then the Kaiser flattered and spoke him well, and he sent him out to die.
But his crown prince hasn't felt one hurt and the heart of me questions why?
He talks of war in his regal way and he boasts of his strength to strike But his boys all live and he doesn't know what the sting of a bullet's like."

"Rebellion gnaws at the soul of me as I think of his crown prince gay And my prince told in the arms of death, and harsh are the things I see.
I join with the grief-torn muttering men who challenge the Kaiser's right To build his joys on the graves of ours. We shall rise in our wrath to smite!
And this is the thing we shall ask of him, to give us the reason why Our boys must fall on his battlefields, but never his boys must die?"

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Herbert Brenon has started "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" in which Sir Johnstone Forbes-Robertson will appear in his famous role of the Stranger. Scenario, sets, and every detail of production for "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" had been prepared by Mr. Brenon's executive staff, and early this month the director began his first scene with Sir Johnstone.

Sir Johnstone Forbes-Robertson.

In its screen form, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" will undergo certain changes necessary to give variety of background and to work out of the development of the characters. In the stage version of Jerome K. Jerome's drama, the action centered in the living room of a shabby London boarding house. The spoken dialogue made it possible to show the individual shading of character of the various people with a single room. The motion picture adaptation, however, will necessarily reveal the different rooms of the lodgers. The three whole floors of the Bloomsbury Place boarding house have been constructed at the studio, including several different rooms, halls and stairways. These range from the slavery's garret corner to the third floor back, to which the Passerby is relegated by the mercenary landlady, Mrs. Sharp.

LINA "FINDS" SOME GEMS.
Lina Cavalieri became an involuntary sleuth the other night when she roomed at the Hotel Netherlands, a velvet bag containing jewels valued at $5,500. The jewels were found in a rooming house in the hotel which "Baron" Karl von Edwards is charged with having stolen from Mrs. Minnie W. Strangman. The mystery of the presence of the jewels was explained by the fact that von Edwards formerly occupied the room. Lina is breathing easier, thank you.

Grace Cunard is a grass widow. Joe Moore has been advanced to when she is giving up housekeeping and is going into a flat or apartments, as she is too lonely in a big house all by herself. Joe is not likely to suffer for cash, as he is a correspondent—she ought to be by this time. There is one big compensation in writing to young Moore.

OUR WASHINGTON DEPARTMENT.

Our esteemed fellow citizen, T. Marshall, who holds some office, he has forgotten just what has taken up checkers to pass away the time.

H. Hoover advises people to eat less meat. We kind of advice because everybody is following it, and were following it before he gave it.

There is some talk of congress convening again, and if it does there will be some more talk.

The only way the Washington people can get dizzy now is to go up in the monument. The saloons are all closed.

The printing office is making a lot of lavender stamps which will not be as popular as the old red ones. It costs three cents now to send a love letter, and is more likely to suffer for lack of more talk.

A New York banker has returned from England and says in an interview that business conditions are bad in Europe just now. We can almost believe that he is more than half right.

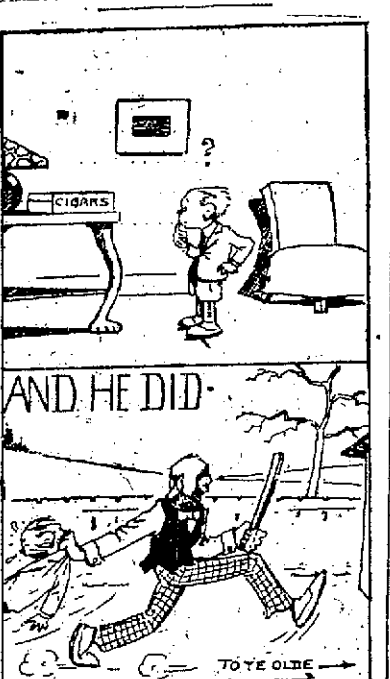

"They are booming La Pollette for president," says a prominent Socialist. President of what—an old woman's home?

In New York they are going to play Shakespeare with modern settings and costumes. Fortunately for him, the author will not be able to appear and make a curtain speech.

A cattle raiser's journal anxiously states that there is a scarcity of calves this year.

Take a look along Main street. That's where they are.

It is quite likely that the electric power now being delivered in this country from the power plants on the Canadian side of the Niagara Falls will be withdrawn, in order that industries on the Canadian side may be supplied. Not long ago, Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Provincial Hydro-Electric commission, stated at a convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities that he demanded for the hydroelectric power was increasing so rapidly in the Niagara zone that more than 83,000 additional horsepower would be required in a very short time. The commission, he said, was prepared to make proceedings to appropriate power from the Canadian Niagara Power company and the Electric Development company, developing power at the falls, of which 24,000 horsepower is now exported to the American side which should be conserved for use in Canada. The commission has been granted the power to appropriate the electricity generated by these companies by an order in council recently passed by the Ontario government.

she will not have to enclose a photo every time she writes.

Jay Belasco writes from Camp Lewis and signs himself "Corporal." Jay says "It is hard work, all right, but it's fine work and I am still smiling." Los Angeles artists are interested in the movie boys who have enlisted or who have been drafted and they receive lots of cheery letters from the girls they left behind them.

Myrtle Stedman is finishing up one of the most successful "personal appearance" tours ever made. She has done but little talking, but a lot of singing, which she appealed hugely to her audiences. Her own pleasant personality has gone far to make the tour a big success, and it is said Miss Myrtle has done very well financially.

Under the tutelage of Miss Kathleen Clark, "Fatty" Arbuckle has learned how to knit.

Looks as though the good old book may come back in style for reference and map purposes, at least.

If the average person hunts around long enough he will be able to find several things to be thankful for on the 29th of this month.

THE TURK AND HUMANKIND.
Now doth the young ambitious Turk fill up our heads with his menus are the finest that he's known since he was born. He struts about in conscious pride and glories in his weight. This gay Thanksgiving bird does not know of his doleful fate. How much like folks some turkeys are, who strut from morn till night, not knowing that the hungry hordes will gobble them at sight. Full many a man with swollen bean has lost proportion's sense, ignoring fate that waits just round the corner of the fence.

"IF EVERYTHING ELSE IN THE LINE OF FOOD FAILS, WE CAN EAT OUR WORDS. THEY ARE NOT ALWAYS UNPLEASANT TO TAKE."

More frightfulness.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Mrs. Thompson: (1) How would you want to take a party? (2) When at a party is it necessary to stay with your partner all the evening?

Who should suggest leaving for home, the lady or gentleman?

(4) Should the gentleman call at the lady's house for her? (5) If you are pretty well acquainted with her, just write a note telling her in your own words about the party, saying when and where and that you would like to have her go with you. If you wish to make the invitation a little more formal, you might word it something like this:

Dear Miss Smith: I would be very pleased to have you accompany me to the Christmas Party given by the Brown Sisters Monday evening, the twelfth of December, at their home. The guests are requested to be there promptly at eight and you care to go with me. I will call for you at seven-thirty. Mr. White.

Of course you would substitute the correct names and dates, etc., in place of the imaginary ones I have given in the note.

No, at most parties there are ladies and the ladies do the same; but for the most part of the evening it is more polite for the gentleman to call on his partner, or at least to call on her, than for her to call on him. He should not avoid all others but his partner, but on the other hand he should not neglect her.

Which ever one wishes to go that usually the lady will show by something she does or says that she is ready, and in such a case the gentleman should then suggest leaving.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eight years of age. I used to live in another town and while there I went with a boy whom I loved at first sight. I also went with his brother and he acted as though he cared a great deal for me. I moved away about a year ago and he has never written to me, although he knows my address. I wrote to him and he told me he says pretty nice things about me.

(1) Would you write to him first? (2) Do you think he loves me? (3) How could I get his picture? (4) If when walking along the street a boy speaks to you whom you do not know should you answer him? BLUD EYES.

(1) No. (2) If he loved you dear, he would write. (3) Don't try. (4) No.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: A young man I have been going with for three months has been very nice to me up to a week ago, when he began making dates with me and not keeping them. I can see no reason for his doing this as he has always treated me well. He called me up the other night and said he was coming over and later I saw him with another girl. He then told me that he had been with her. Do you think I am justified in dropping him?

VIRGINIA. You might give him another trial, or if you are sure that he is deceiving you, you are justified in having nothing more to do with him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of seventeen and a senior in high school. The boys have been rushing me terribly, and several have told me how good-looking I was. My steady is out of town and I hardly know what to do. Should I go with these boys who extend compliments upon me? R. S.

It must be embarrassing to have the boys compliment you so much. More than that, it is a pity that they say so much, because it doesn't seem sincere. Go with other boys. A girl of your age should not have a steady.

THE TRUTH

KERRYVILLE, Kan., Monday. Don't ever let any one tell you it is a simple little thing to be a perfect mother. It is the most terrific and at the same time diving experiment in human life. At some moments I marvel that I live. At others, I think that I am in a dream I cannot half remember.

Kate, I had what they call "an awful time." I will not distress and frighten you with the details. Mother was very good to me at the last minute, and she kept me from crying. She it was who insisted on having a specialist from South Forks, sixty miles away, after the ignorant local doctor refused to attend to me, or do any of the modern things that help women live through an experience that would reduce a man to shivering panic.

A woman loves her baby more than she loves her mother. If it costs her dear life, she will protect it. Think of it, Kate. People talking such wicked nonsense in this year 1917! And again, I have reiterated until I am almost mad, knowing what I was going through.

Yet we know that savage women in the wilderness sometimes die of sheer pain. Nature does not always operate gently.

Well, at any rate, mother insisted on the other doctor coming, and after twenty-four hours from the moment I first knew the test was at hand, my son was born. Oh, Kate—oh, Kate!

I look at him now, sweet bundle of loveliness that he is, lying asleep in his blue blanket bed, and pray that when he grows up he will be a great physician, a scientist who will do something definite and tangible in this world for women. I believe I shall always feel a new love for women, Kate. Don't you think we do live in a world where it is all in vain for men to do? Look at the women who do men's work and women's, too! Ah, well.

A boy is like every mother's boy. A boy is like every mother's boy. He is a pretty baby, fair and creamy rose, not an unarchaically red, like most new babies. And he is good. He is a disciplinarian. A hard, practical woman. But discipline is excellent in the case of baby tending. She does not spoil him. Or let mother, either.

Which brings me to a new difficulty. The two mothers are a little more than human nature can endure. The bond between mother and child is a thing under the strain. Mother Wheaton and Mother Bond harmonize with the same perfection as gunpowder and matches.

As you recall, my mother is no cooking dove. She is capable in her way and quite as confident as Mrs. Bond. Neither of them is willing to give way. And you know the answer to the famous "movable body against an irresistible force" query! I see fresh trouble in the offing.

Meantime, dear, get well yourself and come out to Kansas for a leading part in the melodrama! Why not? Always more and more lovingly, "MOTHER-MAY."

Cucumber Relish. Homemade Bread. Butter-milk. Spring Lamb Roast. Browned Potatoes and Gravy. Currant Jelly (homemade). Pigs in White Sauce. Apple and Celery Salad. Molasses Wafers. Hot Tea. Graham Bread and Butter.

CORN MEAL MUSH. Save all leftovers as scraps of corn bread. Dry out in warm oven, roll fine with rolling pin, add to boiling salted water, instead of cornmeal, with a few tablespoons of white flour. Mold as usual. Fry in hot lard or oil.

Household Hints

Worth While Recipes On Every Package

Hundreds of housewives have expressed their delight and satisfaction with ARMOUR'S OATS. You will, too, once you have tried them.

The flavor is more appealing and lasting; the large, plump flakes cook better; and table costs are greatly reduced because Armour's Oats make such a variety of nourishing dishes for breakfast, luncheon and dinner.

One Wisconsin mother writes: "I can truly say I prefer Armour's Oats in all my cooking and baking and insist on getting them."

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt was answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

When speaking of a mother-in-law, or a sister-in-law one should drop the in-law, and speak of them as though they were one's own mother or sister.

DESSIE: Since the young man did not ask you to marry him before he went away to the war, he cannot expect you to regard yourself as bound to him in any way, therefore, it is quite proper for you to go with other young men during his absence. No man has a right to object to a woman who is free to do as she pleases.

MRS. W.: It is unusual for the hostess to pair off the couples when giving a party in order to provide seats for the ladies and I should advise you not to undertake this difficult task. However, if you do arrange for escorts, you may place a card bearing the name of the lady you wish him to bring in the envelope with each gentleman's invitation. You need not send the gentlemen's cards to the ladies.

The nutty flavor is preferable to the usual corn meal mush.

QUINCE JAM. Wash, pare and core quinces. Put parings on to cook. Cut pulp small pieces and put in a saucepan. When soft, drain off juice. To the juice add three-fourths as much sugar by measure.

While your quinces were cooking, part tart apples and slice thin. Put on juice and sugar to cook as for jelly, but add the sliced apples and cook until it will set same as jelly. Turn into glasses and turn melted paraffin over each. Cook it will form a cake and completely seal the jam.

The pulp of the quinces may be put with sweet apples for sauce or combined with cranberries or pears for a favorite method. Part of the juice may be made into plain jelly if desired, but the jam is the most delicious way to use quinces, as it has such a delicate flavor and is not so much a delicacy as to be disagreeable to the most particular. All of the quince is conserved by using the pulp in any desired way, making it not only pleasant to the taste, but economical as well.

HOOKS AND TAPE STOP TO NOISY SHADE. The flapping of the window shade, when the sash is raised and the shade lowered, is a serious annoyance to nervous people, who are generally light sleepers. If the shade is raised the light may wake one, and too early, yet ventilation is absolutely necessary to health.

The way to prevent the flapping is very simple. Screw two little brass cup hooks on each side of the window frame, opposite each other about a foot from the sill. At night tie a broad tape across the open window, from one hook to the other, and sailors say "tuck." Screw a third hook in the holding below the sill, exactly in the center.

Pull down the shade over the tape, and tie the cord to the lower hook. The shade will be held firmly in place and a peaceful night's sleep is assured.

Oatmeal Bread—Three cups rolled oats, three cups boiling water (potato water is good), one-half cup molasses, one teaspoonful salt, one cake compressed yeast.

Scald rolled oats with the boiling water. When lukewarm add yeast, molasses and salt. Allow to rise. When light make stiff with white flour. Set this in a warm place and let rise to double its bulk. Then mold into loaves and place in greased pans. Let rise about forty minutes. Bake in medium oven. This makes three small loaves.

A certain factory has succeeded in deadening the noise made by trucks running over a cement floor by covering it with heavy tar paper, laid with cement paint.

HEALTH TALKS

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Trifling With Catarrh

Neither local nor constitutional, neither in the blood nor in the family, not a symptomatic disease, nor even a physical condition. Yet countless credulous folk are quite certain they have it. Can you guess what it is? "Catarrh" is a most convenient name to apply to various troubles when nobody knows what really is the matter.

"Catarrh" is an adjective which a casual reader may consider significant. It is significant of one thing only, a stagnation of thought. No physician ever knows what he thinks when he thinks "catarrh" or "catarrhitis." It is a misnomer. People think of certain nose and throat troubles of long duration as belonging to the "catarrh" category. Well speak of them as chronic rhinitis, meaning an inflammation of the lining of the nose which continues for months or years. Simple to distinguish from hypertrophic rhinitis, in which the lining of the nose (and the covering of the turbinate bodies in the nose) is not only chronically inflamed but also thickened, considered by the "gradual" overgrowth of the inflamed part. And simple chronic rhinitis must also be distinguished from atrophic rhinitis, in which the lining membrane with a summer of time has been shrunk and wasted and thinned out. Each of these forms of rhinitis will be discussed in later talks.

What causes chronic rhinitis? Climate? The weather? Exposure? No. Living in a low place. Dampness? Never. These alleged predisposing factors of nose and throat troubles have served long enough to conceal the real cause. Rhinitis prevails just as much in one climate as another, irrespective of the weather, on hill, plain and in the valley, and certainly not in the warm schoolroom where the children are to develop chronic rhinitis, with or without adenoids and enlarged tonsils. Educate them in open air schoolrooms, or even in schoolrooms with liberators. ## PETEY DINK—A LITTLE TOO TRUE TO LIFE.

Janesville Merchant's Wife Surprises Her Friends

"After a spell of Typhoid Fever years ago I began to suffer from indigestion and gas in my stomach and colic attacks. This gradually became so bad that my doctor advised an operation for gall stones. A friend advised me to try Mayer's Wonderful Remedy which I did with splendid results. My friends were astonished at my rapid improvement. I have no more bloating and can eat anything I wish. It is a simple and harmless preparation that removes the cause of indigestion from the intestinal tract and causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at J. P. Baker's. Advertisement."

King of the Khyber Rifles

A Romance of Adventure

By TALBOT MUNDY

(Copyright by Bobbe-Morrill Company)

Kulz turned back and looked into the other caves—saw the weary horse and mule fed, watered and bedded down—took note of the running water that rushed out of a rock fissure and gurgled out of sight down another one—examined the servants' cave and saw that they had been amply provided with blankets. There was nothing lacking that the most exacting traveler could have demanded at such a distance from civilization. There was more than the most exacting would have dared expect.

"Ismael!" he shouted, and jumped at the revolver-cracklike echo of his voice. Ismael came running.

"Make the men carry the mule's packs into this cave. You and Darya Khan stay here and help me open them. Remember, ye are both assistants of Kurram Khan, the hakim!"

"They will laugh at us! They will laugh at us!" chuckled Ismael, but he hurried to obey, while King wondered who would laugh.

Within an hour a delegation came from no less a person than Yasmini herself, bearing her compliments, and hot food savory enough to make a brass bowl's mouth water. By this time King had his sets of surgical instruments and drugs and bandages all laid out on one of the beds and covered from view by a blanket.

It was only one more proof of the British army's everlasting luck that one of the men, who set the great brass dish of food on the floor near King, had a swollen cheek, and that he should touch the swelling clumsily as

"Does It Pain Thee, Brother?" Asked Kurram Khan, the Hakim.

He lifted his hand to shake back a lock of greasy hair. There followed an oath like flint struck on steel ten times in rapid succession.

"Does it pain thee, brother?" asked Kurram Khan the hakim.

"Are there devils in Tophet? Fire and my veins are one!"

The man did not notice the eagerness beaming out of King's horn-rimmed spectacles, but Ismael did; it seemed to him time to prove his virtues as assistant.

"This is the famous hakim Kurram Khan," he boasted. "He can cure anything, and for a very little fee!"

The man looked incredulous, but King drew the covering from his row of instruments and bottles.

"Take a chance!" he advised. "None but the brave wins anything!"

Ismael and Darya Khan were new to the business and enthusiastic. They had the man down, held tight on the floor to the huge amusement of the rest, before he could even protest; and his howls of rage did him no good, for Ismael drove the hilt of a knife between his open jaws to keep them open.

A very large proportion of King's stores consisted of morphia and cocaine. He injected enough cocaine to deaden the man's nerves, and allowed it time to work. Then he drew out three back teeth in quick succession, to make sure he had the right one.

Ismael let the victim up, and Darya Khan gave him water in a brass cup.

Utterly without pain for the first time for days, the man was as grateful as a wolf freed from a trap.

"Are there any others in pain in Khinjan?" King asked him.

"Listen to him! What is Khinjan? Is there one man without a wound or a sore or a scar or a sickness?"

"Then, tell them," said King.

SICK WOMAN HAD CRYING SPELLS

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Enhaut, Pa.—"I was all run down and weak inwardly. I had female troubles and nervous feelings and my head bothered me. I would often have crying spells and feel as if I was not safe. If I heard anyone coming I would run and lock the door so they would not see me. I tried several doctors and they did not help me so I said to my mother 'I guess I will have to die as there is no help for me.' She got me one of your little books and my husband said I should try one bottle. I stopped the doctor's medicine and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It soon made a change in me and now I am strong and do all my work."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS BAUGHMAN, Box 86, Enhaut, Pa.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

The man laughed. "When I show my jaw, there will be a fight to be first! Make ready, hakim! I go!"

King sat down to eat, but he had not finished his meal—he had made the last little heap of rice into a ball with his fingers, native style, and was mopping up the last of the curried gravy with it—when the advance guard of the lame and the halt and the sick made its appearance. The cave's entrance became jammed with them, and no riot ever made more noise.

"Hakim! Ho, hakim! Where is the hakim who draws teeth? Where is the man who knows yuzani?"

Ten men burst down the passage all together, all clamoring, and one man wasted no time at all but began to tear away bloody bandages to show his wound. King rolled up his sleeves and began, so that eagerness gave place to wonder. The desperate need of winning his first trick, made him horror-proof; and nobody waiting for the next turn was troubled because the man under the knife screamed a little or bled more than usual.

When they died—and more than one did die—men carried them out and flung them over the precipice into the waterfall below.

Ismael and Darya Khan became choosers of the victims. They seized a man, laid him on the bed, tore off his disgusting bandages and held their breath until the awful resulting stench had more or less dispersed. Then King would probe or lance or bandage as he saw fit, using anesthetics when he must, but managing mostly without them.

They almost flung money at him. He tossed money and clothes and every other thing they gave him into a corner at the back of the cave, and nobody tried to steal them back, although a man suspected of honesty in that company would have been tortured to death as an heretic and would have had no sympathy.

For hour after gruesome hour he tolled over wounds and sores such as only battles and evil living can produce, until men began to come at last with fresh wounds, all caused by bullets, wrapped in bandages on which the blood had caked but had not grown foul.

"There has been fighting in the Khyber," somebody informed him, and he stopped with lance in midair to listen, scanning a hundred faces swiftly in the smoky lamplight. There were ten men who held lamps for him, one of them a newcomer, and it was he who spoke.

"Fighting in the Khyber! Ay! We were a little lashed, but we drove them back into their fort! Ay! We slew many!"

"Not a jihad yet?" King asked, as if the world might be coming to an end. The words were startled out of him. Under other circumstances he would never have asked that question so directly; but he had lost reckoning of everything but these poor devils' dreadful need of doctoring, and he was like a man roused out of a dream. It was a holy war had been proclaimed already, then he was engaged on a forlorn hope. But the man laughed at him.

"Nay, not yet. Bull-with-a-beard holds back yet. This was a little fight. The jihad shall come later!"

"And who is 'Bull-with-a-beard'?" King wondered; but he did not ask that question because his wits were awake again. It pays not to be in too much of a hurry to know things in the "Hills."

As it happened, he asked no more questions, for there came a shout at the cave entrance whose purport he did not catch, and within five minutes after that, without a word of explanation, the cave was left empty of all except his own five men. They carried away the men too sick to walk and vanished, snatching the last man away almost before King's fingers had finished tying the bandage on his wound.

"Why is that?" he asked Ismael. "Why did they go? Who shouted?"

"It is night," Ismael answered. "It was time."

King stared about him. He had not realized until then that without aid of the lamps he could not see his own hand held out in front of him; his eyes had grown used to the gloom, like those of the surgeons in the sick-bays below the waterline in Nelson's fleet.

"But who shouted?"

"Who knows? There is only one here who gives orders. We be many who obey," said Ismael.

"Whose men were the last ones?" King asked him, trying a new line.

"Bull-with-a-beard's."

"And whose man art thou, Ismael?" The Afridi hesitated, and when he spoke at last there was not quite the same assurance in his voice as once there had been.

"I am here! Be thou here, too! But it is night. Sleep against the toil tomorrow. There be many sick in Khinjan."

King made a little effort to clean the cave, but the task was hopeless. For one thing he was so weary that his very bones were water. He appointed two-hour watches, to relieve one another until dawn, and flung himself on a clean bed. He was asleep before his head had met the pillow; and for all he knew to the contrary he dreamed of Yasmini all night long.

It seemed to him that she came into the cave—she, the woman of the faded photograph the general had given him in Peshawar—and that the cave became filled with the strange intoxicating scent that had first wooed his senses in her reception room in Delhi.

He dreamed that she called him by name. First, "King sahib!" Then "Kurram Khan!" And her voice was surprisingly familiar. But dreams are strange things.

"He sleeps!" said the same voice presently. "It is good that he sleeps!" And in his sleep he thought that a shadowy Ismael grunted an answer.

When he awoke at last it was after dawn, and light shone down the passage into the cave.

"Ismael!" he shouted, for he was thirsty. But there was no answer.

"Darya Khan!" Again there was no answer. He called each of the other men by name with the same result. He decided to go to the cave mouth, summon his men, who were no doubt sleeping. But there was no Ismael near the entrance—no Darya Khan—nor any of the other men. The horse was gone. So was the mule. So was the harness, and everything he had, except the drugs and instruments and the presents the sick had given him; he had noticed all those lying about in confusion when he woke.

"Ismael!" he shouted at the top of his lungs, thinking they might all be outside.

He heard a man hawk and spit, close to the entrance, and went out to see. A man whom he had never seen before leaned on a magazine rifle and eyed him as a tiger eyes his prey.

"No farther!" he growled, bringing his rifle to the port.

"Why not?" King asked him. "Allah! When a camel dies in the Khyber do the kites ask why? Go in!"

He thought then of Yasmini's bracelet, that had always gained him at least civility from every man who saw it. He held up his left wrist and knew that instant why it felt uncomfortable. The bracelet had disappeared!

ENGLISH REDUCE TAXES TO ENCOURAGE MARRIAGE

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] London, Oct. 23.—When the British government is contemplating granting an income tax exemption of $250 a year to married men does it mean they figure the upkeep of a wife at that amount?

British wives are wondering if friend hubby is going to make them keep their lingerie, candy, theater and other personal expenses within that amount.

But speaking seriously, the government's contemplated change is said to be inspired mainly by the desire to encourage marriage. Post-war man-power is daily becoming a matter of more serious consideration.

When a Fellow Needs a Friend

(With acknowledgments to Briggs.)

The War Camp Community Association wants to be the friend and protector of our soldier boys by providing for their lonely hours off duty, healthy recreation, clean sports and as far as possible the home influences. You have not given your boy to your country if you fail to guard him against the dangers that surround the cantonments. The War Camp Community Association is raising funds to build recreation centers, theaters, music and dance halls and in this way preserve the health and morals of our young Americans. Will you contribute to that fund?

Janesville's share is $1,200, and it is proposed to raise it by popular donation tomorrow, Saturday, known as "Victory Brick Day." This movement has the endorsement of President Wilson and both secretaries of war, Baker, and navy, Daniels.

Company C will appear in part on parade for the first time, weather permitting, Saturday evening. It is expected other attractions will help to make the day interesting and the response to the call for a Thanksgiving offering for the "boys" by way of the Recreational Fund a hearty one.

FORMER SHERIFF IS JAILED BY SHERIFF

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Milwaukee, Nov. 23.—Former Sheriff Edward T. Meims of Milwaukee County was today given into the custody of Sheriff McMane in default of payment of costs of the action in connection with the arrest of the three deputy sheriffs and federal agents who were charged in a complaint returned out by Meims to have illegally seized a speaker from addressing a race meeting about ten days ago. Judge Page in making his finding after dismissing the case against the defendants, said he had known the complaining witness for some time as a man who had held public office and knew what he was doing when he swore to the complaint. "I find that the complaint was maliciously or wantonly brought," said the judge, "and the complaining witness will pay the costs of the action, or, upon default, will be committed to the county jail for thirty days."

District Attorney Zahel was represented in court by one of his assistants, who informed the court that the facts in the case did not warrant prosecution, following which the court entertained a motion to dismiss the action.

Dress Fabrics of Quality
Make Useful and Acceptable Christmas Gifts

The business man of today who has a good honest article to dispose of must advertise to inform the community of the fact if he would make a success of his business. No advertiser with a reputation to lose can afford to deceive the public. Both from the moral and business point of view there is nothing like telling the truth about goods offered for sale. Nothing pleases us more than a sale which gives the purchaser complete satisfaction. That is our constant endeavor. Hence prospective buyers of Dress Fabrics from us, or any one of our lines, may repose in the fullest confidence that they will receive perfectly candid statements, and, not as a privilege, but as an inalienable right, perfectly honest and straightforward dealing.

Visitors are free to make a tour of inspection without solicitation to buy.
